McCormick, who was the president, treasurer and general manager of the appellant, testified that the property taken in payment of $19,900 of the stock consisted of 275 empty boxes, a typewriter, two or three boxes of soap, a barrel of metal polish, a wooden desk and $125 of Iowa accounts, the entire property being worth not to exceed $375. On June 8, 1913, as president of the corporation, he made a report in writing to R. G. Dunn Company which showed that the corporation had assets amounting to $20,000, which consisted of merchandise $15,000, accounts at realizable value $5,000 and cash $800, and that its total liabilities were $4,800; this report further stated that appellant carried $7,500 insurance and did an annual business of $40,000. Bernard Smith, a director and the secretary of appellant, testified that in December, 1912, the assets of...
